Framing Knowledge You Can Build On! (Virtual Class)

This course highlights what you need to know about framing with plywood and OSB. Learn proper installation requirements and how to prevent costly callbacks. Understand how engineered wood products are made and their impact on the environment. Also, know where to find information and resources for your construction projects.

Greg Bates is a Field Marketing Manager for West Fraser where he promotes engineered wood panels in the Southwest region throughout the distribution channel. For the nine years prior to joining West Fraser, he was with APA where he worked with builders, framers, designers and code officials for the practical implementation of framing products and building codes in the field. He has been a speaker at the International Builders Show on the topics of building codes, moisture intrusion, and framing practices.
